Jenga Rules

Object: To build a tower as tall as you can.

How to Set up: Make a row of 3 blocks on the ground. Make sure they are touching each other. Make another row of 3 on top of the first but going the opposite way. Then another row like the first, on top of the second row. Continue like this until you have used all the blocks.

How to Play: Decide on who will go first.

First player removes one block from the tower (not the top row) and replaces it on the top of the tower.

After 10 seconds or after the next player has touched the tower the first player's turn is over.

It is now the next player's turn. They take one block from any row except the row directly under the incompleted row. Then they place it on top, next to first players block. Continue like this, rebuilding the tower, until someone knocks one or more of the blocks over. This marks the end of the game.

**Please be careful and mindful of young children around this game. The blocks are heavy when they fall.****

Other Ways To Play

- Use only 1 hand. Could be your preferred hand or for a bit of a challenge use your non-preferred hand.
  - Close one eye when it's your turn.
  - Close both eyes on your turn.
  - Spin around 5 times before your turn.
  - Stand on one leg when it's your turn.
- Roll a die on your turn to see how many blocks you need to take.
- Play in pairs. Person 1 of the pair sits/stands in front of person 2 and puts their arms behind person 2. Person 2 puts their arms in front of person 1. So, person 2's arms look like they belong to person 1. Person 2 must close their eyes while person 1 directs them on where to put their arms and hands on their turn.
